If you try to cook with cows...

They're going to want chef hats.

They'll tell you what color they want.

They can't stay home alone.
So, you'll need to take them to the store.

But they will refuse to get in the shopping cart.

Then, when you least expect it...

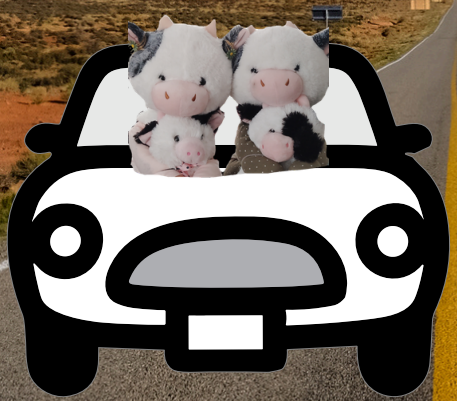
They find a bookshelf.

Where did they go?

CRASH!

OH NO!

You take them home, you are very upset.



Now you are back home, with their chef hats.

Cows, go wash your hooves!

Wait... Why is the door locked?

Your bathroom door has floated away.

You just wanted to cook with cows.

But they decided to do some interior decorating.

And so... The moral of the story is...

If you want to cook with cows,

Wait until they're not home.

Unless you have a can of paint for repairs,
and some mold remover for the water damage,
and about a couple hundred dollars
to replace all the merchandise your cows destroyed doing parkour in the grocery store.

DAISYBELLE! GET DOWN!

BE CAREFUL!

SPLAT!

Oh, jeez...

Well, you cooked.

At least you accomplished that.

Have your win for the day.

(Because you certainly can't have a muffin)
